HPC was charged with obtaining planning approvals, designing and managing the construction throughout the build of The Salvation Army's new Womens Drug Rehabilitation Centre and dormitory at Red Hill.

The vital project at the existing 'Moonyah' recovery centre provides much needed care and accommodation to at risk women.

The wheelchair accessible building responds to the needs of the future users with design consideration given to privacy, functionality and accessibility to terraces and outdoor recreation areas.

Natural light and ventilation were integral in facilitating a high quality, respectful and welcoming environment.
